Following last night's glittering Cover awards, GRiD was particularly pleased that Ian McMullan was so highly recognised with the posthumous Special Recognition award. Ian was hugely influential in the group risk industry and never more so than through his work for GRiD.

Katharine Moxham, spokesperson for GRiD said, 'Ian was hugely supportive of GRiD, both in terms of his own time and in making resources available for the overall advancement of the industry. He truly espoused the concept that being a member of an industry body is as much about what you give back to the industry as it is about what you get out of your membership. Ian was pivotal in raising GRiD's profile through his involvement as Chair of the Raising the Profile Working Party and as a member of GRiD's Steering Group.'
